Barter Prizes at Pawcatuck High School Awarded A. H. Chapman, M. B. Lewis, Jr. and C. G. Gilman—Final Graduating Exercises Held In that Building—Assistant Librarian Granted Additional Vacation.

The graduating exercises in the Pawcatuck high school, Thursday evening, were attended by a large gathering of friends of the pupils of the school, and all day the blue flag with white figures, 1910, waved from the peak of the flagstaff, which will be the last time a high school class flag will be hoisted there. Under the new school system which goes in effect July 1, the Pawcatuck high school building in West Broad street will hereafter be devoted to graded and grammar purposes and the sole high school of the town of Stonington will be located in the borough, the high schools at Mystic and Pawcatuck being devoted to preparatory studies.

The five graduates who received diplomas at the Pawcatuck high school Thursday evening are Florence Sophia Bray, Alfred Henry Chapman, Mary Catherine Gormley, Merton Bernard Lewis, Jr., and Jessie Wilbur Stillman. The order of exercises follows: March, The National Anthem, high school orchestra; prayer, Rev. George W. Rigler, D.D., First Baptist church, Westerly; essay, with salutatory, Beebe, Miss Florence Sophia Bray; music, In Dreamland, Friedman, orchestra; address, Hon. George Brinton Chandler of Rocky Hill, Conn.; music, You and I, Kahn and LeRoy, orchestra; essay, with valedictory, The Patriots, Jessie Wilbur Stillman; song, The Storm Wind, Weatherly high school chorus; presentation of diplomas, Dr. James H. Weeks, Jr., of Stonington, secretary of the town board of education.

Award of Peleg S. Barber cash prize, to Hon. George R. McKenna, Education, Rev. F. A. Jones, Calvary Baptist church, Westerly. The Peleg S. Barber prizes are the interest of a permanent fund for the best essays by pupils of the Pawcatuck high school. The judges were Hon. George R. McKenna, Miss A. Clara Thompson and Miss Pauline W. Stahle.

The first prize, $20, was awarded to Alfred H. Chapman; second prize, $10, to Martin B. Lewis, Jr.; third prize, $5, to Carl G. Gilman.

Miss Marie Zangrandi, an assistant librarian in the Westerly public library, for about five years without regular vacation, is to enjoy a rest from her work in the library. The trustees have granted the young lady, in addition to the customary two weeks' vacation, a leave of absence of four weeks, a portion of which Miss Zangrandi will spend in New York state. She is proficient in library work and courteous and obliging to seekers of information in the library.

Local Laconics.
From 10 to 1 o'clock Thursday, automobiles passed through Westerly bound to New London, at the rate of millions for irrigation.
By a legislative compromise congress is to appropriate $20,000,000 for irrigation. In a sense, this is called a loan, in that it is expected that eventually the money will be returned. Perhaps the treasury will be reimbursed many years hence, but for a long time to come money paid will be released for the same purpose, so Uncle Sam is making a very tidy present to the west. This is a long way from the original plan by which only proceeds from the sales of public lands in the west were turned into the reclamation fund. Uncle Sam is now going to foot the bill.

Here in the east we have for many years begged for a shipping bill which would restore our commerce and give us a chance at trade with the world, especially with South America. But the very congressmen who hold up their hands in horror at such a plan, which is to benefit every part of the country, are willing to vote millions for making private farms in the west, and they act with promptness and cheerfulness. We do not object. They should do so. But so should they build up American shipping—and be consistent.

Handy Ink Eradicator.
When a blot occurs and the ink eraser is not at hand use a bit of the emery board which comes for manicuring the nails. It is quick and efficacious, but care must be taken to work gently so as not to make a hole in the paper.

Awful Confession.
"Mother," said the repentant, "I've a dreadful thing to confess to you. Last night, when you told me to lie down in bed, I lied down, but after you turned out the gas I grounded my teeth at you in the dark!"

Amor Vincit Omnia.
Mother—"And when he proposed, did you tell him to see me?" Daughter—"Yes, mamma; and he said he'd seen you several times, but he wanted to marry me just the same."—The Schenck.

Third district court session in Westerly today (Friday).

Work is progressing rapidly on the excavation for the new Welch building.

The 1911 class flags flaunted in Pawcatuck Thursday, beyond the reach of the class of 1910.

The residence of Albert Tucker in Pond street, was burglariously entered some time during Wednesday, but nothing of value was taken. The traces indicated the work of mischievous boys.

The insurance money paid the First Baptist church on account of the fire was ample to make all the improvements and leaves a balance that will be applied to the further improvement of the church edifice.

The committee appointed by the town council to do preliminary work towards the change of grade on Union street, proposes to go forward with the work, and without dictation from those opposed to the proposed improvement.

The Hone high school baseball team of this district, champions of the Rhode Island interscholastic league, have absolutely ignored the challenge from the Westerly high school team, therefore, the challenge is null and void. The championship of two states to the Westerly school boys.

Deacon Ethan Wilcox, who has for years been clerk of the First Baptist church, recently declined to serve longer, and at a meeting held Wednesday evening Miss Daisy Peabody, was elected his successor. A committee was appointed to prepare resolutions of appreciation of Mr. Wilcox's long and efficient service.

Mrs. Dwight Stillman recently lost her suit for damages against the Old Colony Street Railway company, claiming damages for injuries sustained when a car of the company collided with a cart in the street of Fall River. Now Mr. Stillman has brought suit for a like sum, $10,000, to recompense him for the large sum of money he has paid out by reason of the injuries and for the loss of her services in aiding him to conduct hotels at Daytona, Fla. and at Weekapaug, Westerly. Mr. and Mrs. Stillman are residents of Westerly.

Natural Resources

The question of the disposition of the natural resources in the west has been answered by some of the statesmen there to the effect that these natural resources belong to the communities where they exist and should be disposed of as those communities may deem best. The disposition that some of them favor is their early absorption by capital, so as to enhance the immediate welfare of those communities.

This, of course, means that those great resources shall become the property of powerful monopolies and that the use of these powers shall go to the building up of wealth rather than to the advancement of society. The rights of posterity are nothing to these statesmen. The use they propose to make of the forests, the water powers and the mineral deposits is for temporary exploitation, which will in the end serve to make dependents and bondsmen of the people.

The situation is very apt to bring up the old question of how much of God's bounty shall go to making all the people happy and how much to making some of them wealthy.—Ohio State Journal.

The Wonderful Amazon.
Although not the largest or longest river, the Amazon is the most wonderful river in the world, with a mouth 150 miles in width, and with a force of water that repels, or at least overflows, the ocean to a distance of more than fifty leagues. Yet, in spite of the weight of the river, the tide makes its influence felt for 500 miles from the coast. The easterly trade winds blow almost invariably upward, so as to be ready to help the vessel against the adverse currents.

Functions of the Happy.
A happy man or woman is a better thing to find than a five-pound note. He or she is a radiating focus of goodwill; and their entrance into a room is as though another candle had been lighted. We need not care whether they could prove the forty-seventh proposition; they do a better thing than that, they practically demonstrate the great theorem of the livableness of life.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Bottle Suicide.
Drunkennes for deepest troubles is often a preventive or a substitute for suicide, a "temporary suicide" as it were. Many men too cowardly to pull the trigger or take gas, deliberately and viciously commit suicide by the slow alcoholic route, and even say it is an easy way to die. And for this alcohol gets the blame.—Exchange.

Faith and Hope.
Doubts may fit around me, or seem to close their evil wings, and settle down; but, so long as I imagine that the earth is hallowed, and the light of heaven retains its sanctity on the Sabbath—while the blessed sunshine lives within me—never can my soul have lost the instinct of its faith.—Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Necessity of Beauty.
Schiller in his esthetical and philosophical essays wrote that "Beauty alone confers happiness on all," that under its influence men forget their limitations. Happiness is our being's end and aim. And without beauty even happiness in its perfect flowering is impossible.

Accustomed to it.
"Yes," said Rivett, "I went to a five-o'clock tea with my wife yesterday." "Gracious!" exclaimed Chumley, "didn't it nearly drive you crazy?" "Oh, no, I didn't mind it. I own a boiler shop, you know."—Catholic Standard and Times.
